

Education Consultancy

Middle East and Africa

INTRODUCTION TO EDUCATION CONSULTANCY

The Education sector in the GCC and Africa is on a consistent growth trajectory, buoyed by a young population. Within the GCC, public sector initiatives are actively fostering private sector participation to elevate educational standards and foster innovation. This shift enables governments to transition from direct providers to effective regulators in the education domain.

To support this growth and engage both public and private sectors, Knight Frank offers a specialised education advisory team in the Middle East and Africa. Our experienced team provides various services such as market analysis, feasibility studies, valuation, transaction support, operator selection, preopening assistance, academic planning, and project cost and building consultancy.

As part of an international enterprise with over 500 offices across 60 territories, the team is equipped with resources and global connectivity to support clients on cross-border education ventures. Supported by our team of international offices we provide pre-concept, business planning, education start up and academic operations. In addition, transactional data to facilitate informed decision making. We thank you for sparing the time to learn about our services, expertise and credentials.
